Discrimination at the pedicure shop!

Posted on May 10, 2007 by timgik

A lady is suing a pedicure shop for not allowing her to get a pedicure at their shop. She said that if anyone really needed a pedicure it was her. She is suing for an undisclosed amount. She stated that she was hurt by their refusal to give her a pedicure and was very embarrassed. Would you have turned her away if you owned a pedicure shop?

prepared to bust a move on the ladies. CAUTION: Don't blame me if you try and use these PICK UP lines and you get rejected or if she just laughs at you and holds up a L sign on her forehead!!

Pit-Bull vs Porcupine

Posted on April 18, 2007 by tjmagik

This is what happens when you are one of the toughest dogs amongst all others. You get to big headed and think you are unbeatable. This poor Pit-bull had to learn the hard way...very hard way! This happened in May of 2005 to this female pit-bull named Inca. She decided that she wanted to duke it out with a Porcupine and she came up just short of winning the fight...yeah right! These are the pictures of her while she was at the vet. They had to remove thousands of quills that was all over her face and the poor pit bull could not even close her mouth because the quills were also all over her tongue. Just to let you know the owner said that Inca is doing fine now =) Now place your bets and tell me who you would pick if these two were to meet again for a second round!!

Toilet Terror!

Posted on April 17, 2007 by tjmagik

This Switzerland public toilet was created by 38 year old architect artist Monica Bonvicini in December 2003 as an exhibit. This creation is a toilet that has a reflective glass. When seen from the outside it's just a mirror and nobody can see inside. But when you enter the toilet you can see everybody and it seems as if everyone can see you, but that's not the case. Imagine using the toilet, how would you feel? The concept of this exhibit was to challenge us and to see how we felt and reacted to others being a few feet from us doing something we would normally do in private. I think I would actually find it very entertaining. I would probably test it out first and make sure nobody could really see inside. I would probably put my i-pod on and start dancing and acting a fool, after that I would make funny faces to those who passed by, then I would do my thing. Not sure if I could handle doing the number 2...I think you know what I'm talking about. I wonder if someone actually did the number 2? Just imagine if someone was curious and didn't know that it was a toilet and put there face right up to the glass to see inside. How would that feel? How would you react? would you still feel uncomfortable even though they couldn't possibly see inside. I guess you would actually have to try it to have a valid answer.
